Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS. Jan. 26.-[To the Editor of The Times:] Got a laugh the other day by some fellow writing from Panama saying that Lindbergh was "showing signs of nervousness, that he would pick up a book and then lay it down and not read it."

I saw him do the same thing in the Embassy in Mexico. But I just thought to myself, there is another example of this boy's splendid judgment. If he had read any of the books that he picked up, I would begin to have doubts about his condition. If more people laid down without reading them we would have more Lindberghs and (P)—After discussing farm relief with President Goolidge today, Representative Ketcham, Republican, Michigan, completed the drafting of his export debenture bill, the principle of which has been indorsed by the National Grange. He announced that his proposal will be introduced tomorrow as a substitute for the McNary-Hauger bill, which of late has had rather rough sledding.

Ketchan, one of the House agriculture committeemen who have declined to continue supporting the controversial equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen measure, said he found President Coolidge deeply interested in the farm relief question. While at the White House, he said, he told the President of his plan to embody the Grange's debenture plan in a bill, but did not discuss with him the various proposals already offered for relief of the farmer.

MONOLITH Greatly Increases Density in Concrete

Three beautiful pieces of statuary adorn the front elevation of the Library Building, University of Washington. So smooth and hard and delicately modeled are they that you would think they were carved from stone.

As a matter of fact, they are made of Monolith Plastic Waterproof Portland Cement—a marvelous demonstration of the density which this unrivaled material imparts to concrete. It is its high degree of DENSITY that enables you to pour concrete made of Monolith into any kind of form, or model it into most artistic lines and contours. Beautiful interior as well as exterior effects in private homes and public buildings have been made possible by this quality in Monolith. And density is largely responsible for two other outstanding advantages — greater strength and absolute waterproofness!

Facts about Monolith

MONOLITH meets all the standard specifications for Portland cement and is mixed in the same way.

Monolith makes cement plaster so highly workable that a plasterer can spread it easily with 25% greater speed. olith adheres to re-inforcing steel with much greater Waterproofness is ground into every particle of Mono-lith. It is unequalled for stucco walls, foundations, retaining walls, reservoirs, swimming pools, fish ponds, conduits, dams, vats, silos — ANY CONSTRUCTION DEMANDING SUPERIOR STRENGTH AND ABSOLUTE WATERPROOFNESS.

CALIFORNIA SECOND IN INCOME TAX

> Only New York Pays More Inheritances and Stocks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. (Exclusive)
California took second place in two of the most important contributions to the income-tax payments of the country for the year 1927. This is shown in the figures made public today by the Internal Revenue Commissioner, David H. Blair
New York State alone paid more inheritaince tax to the Federal government than California and was also the only State that exceeded California payments on capital stock tax and bonds of indebtedness. On inheritaince tax to the Federal government California paid in 1927 88,686.413.02. New York paid a total of $22.651,568.93. On capital stock tax and bond issues the State of California paid to the Federal Treasury a total of $1,019,514.94. New York State paid a total on the same account of $8,261,903.61.
No other States of the Union approached the high figures of New York and California and all fell far below in those Items for 1927.

It is stated that he has agreed to perform Miss Miller's conversion in accordance with the Veedic rites, although where the ceremony will take place, if the re-port is correct, has not been dis-closed. FURNITURE NUMEROUS REFUSALS

More than one recognized progressive Hindu religious body is known to have refused to convert Miss Miller because the former Maharajah already has two wives living, and because the view is held that the American girl's conversion is intended only to give the marriage legal sanction. signi sanction.

The senior and junior Maharanines refuse to see anyone or to listen to any persuasion in favor of his mar-

Recent arrivals in Bombay from Indore say that there is little expectation there that the marriage will be celebrated in that State.

OFFICIAL OPPOSITION A majority of the State officials and relatives of the former Maharajah are reported to be against the alliance, while the Changar caste, to which he belongs, is not prepared to accept Miss Miller as a Hindu.

The British Resident at Indore also is said to be opposed to the wedding.

Meanwhile Miss Miller and the for-mer ruler of Indore are at Nuwara Eliya, Ceylon, where they refuse to discuss the marriage.

The control of the co ow many of these Bonds meet Present Conditions?

TVIANY safety deposit boxes conceal investment conditions that call for a change. These conditions are overlooked by the owner because they have not been given consideration in the light of new trends or developments since the investments were made or the changed individual requirements of the investor.

Industry spends over $200,000,000 s year in scientific research. Within a few years, chemistry alone has given us hundreds of new products and hundreds of new processes. Thus, industrial conditions are altered with the progress of the times.

then, remain unchanging? It is not to be expected that an investor can purchase securities to be put away and forgotten on the assumption of fixed, never-varying values. Investments will not look after themselves any more than will business. If it is wise than will business. If it is wise for manufacturers to check up frequently on their businesses, it is equally wise for the investor to check up on his securities.

Check investments periodically. Talk them over with the Investment Banker who is in close touch with the changed and the changing economic conditions.

This is inventory time for busi-ness, and it should be inventory time for investors.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (Exclusive)—
The cotton market turned firm today from the opening and showed a railying tendency for the first time in nearly a week. The principal reason seemed to be its well-liquidated and oversold position, rather than any actually new favorably developments in the general cotton situation either here, in the South or abroad.

The steadiness all three markets disclosed yesterday when the sharp declining tendency of the last few days appeared to have been checked, caused the feeling to prevail that prices had declined emough for present conditions.

Making the blind see is another of the ramifying duties of local United States Public Health Service doctors. Axel Hanson, chief mate, arrived yes-terday on the Hammond schooner As-toria, blinded, it was believed, by a mysterious maindy. A few compresses and Axel went back to work. It was only a cold, imported from outside Southern California.

How We Stabilized Esthetic and Commercial Values

Are Being Developed (Shaded portions in map now undergoing development)

Naturally you want a bit of California near your California home.

Naturally, too, on the business side, you want sound, sensible, stabilized values.

Read how things that typify California charm have been preserved and glorified at Rancho Santa Fe—how speculation has been prevented and investment-safety assured.

Owning a 15-square-mile area in the shadow of mountains and in sight of the sea in America's finest climate belt, the Santa Fe Land Improvement Company started six years ago to create an outstanding community of country estates. The land had been an old Spanish grant. Romantic old haciendas remained intact. The softly undulating mesas above the green valley of the San Dieguito were splattered with 105 ANGELES colorful native flora, planted eucalyptus groves and variegated soils. Millions were invested in basic utilitieswater system, roads, electric lines, a Spanish village, hotel, etc. As land was sold, purchasers were required to develop it within one year with homes, orchards or landscaping. Millions have now been invested in these programs. Eighty per cent of the land has been sold and is under development.

Today the results are amazing. You will find a wealth of those elements which typify this smil-

Salient Points of the Bidding
South passes because slightly under the quick trick requirement for an original bid. West bids No Trump despite his singleton spade. While as singleton is rightly regarded as a No Trump menace, west's singleton is an Acc and with this Acc he has all four suits stopped, so that a No Trump bid is preferable to a weak introductory bid of a Minor suit. Practically the same situation continuing strong bid, and, therefore, allows his partner's No Trump bid to stand. South's Heart bid, clearly directive, stops West from continuing with No Trump. East is too strong to permit the adverse Heart bid to stand. Therefore, allows his partner will not interpret it as well defined takeout, because not made on the first round. West, reading correctly Rast's belisted Spade bid, now bids two No Trumps. North has a sound three-Heart assist for his partner. East completes the information as to the semityo-suited character of his hand by now bidding four Clubs. South and North are content to have the hand played at a Minor suit, both of them realizing that game at Hearts is not probable; while West is convinced that East has ar-

PROBLEMS DIFFER

Europe is more settled with its educational problems than we are in the United States. There is scarcely a university in the country which is not dissatiafied with its system of education and seeking to solve the problems. This has brought forth such proposed solutions as the Antioch plan, the Stanford plan, the Amherst plan and others. This healthy condition is noticeably lacking in Europe, where it seems attention is directed to other problems. President Bird stem the greater part of his time in Italy studying the Mediterranean style of architecture. He is especially interested in this kind of architecture, which prevails at Occidental, and a modified form will be used when the proposed new university buildings at Brentwood are erected.

The promises, according to U. S. Atty. McNabb and his assistants, Simpson and Peterson, would have netted the investors from $10,000,000 to $30,000,000 profits, if the oil wells being prospected in the Signal Hill district had produced in the manner Lewis and his associates are asserted to have promised.

Letters, admittedly written by Lewis to J. H. Closson of Seattle, promised extensive profits, according to the testimony yesterday of Closson. He said that he invested a total of $2050 and had received back in so-called royalties, $160. Closson said that he had been told he could turn his interests in the Lewis oil projects into land in Atascadero, but would have to add |20 per cent to get the property. He said he did not do so and lost all.

E. J. Enright of Tacoma testified that, upon representations made to him by Lewis he invested $1000 and received back $140 in so-called royalties. Lewis and Kramer, both once wealthy men, are conducting their own defense, saying they cannot afford an attorney. The case will be continued today.

Was granted on a charge o' describin, which Mrs. Kent said took place in 1926. She related that during a dinner party on the occasion of their wedding anniversary that year, Kent arose at his place at the table and declared boudly:

"This is all a farce."

Later he left for a week-end trip, and failed to come back home, Mrs. Kent related. She said she asked him to return but that his reply was:

"There is no use in talking about this matter. It would only lead to an argument and someone might get hurt."

Mrs. Kent was granted custody of the child. The action was not contested. Attorney Milton Cohen represented the wife.

"The Circus" Comes to Town DRAMA POTENT Scenes of Power Mark New Ultimate Episode Stands Actor's Virtuosity Holds The thunder and clatter of war and volution-an ironical gesture anen of love and romance-a performance These attributes and attractions are offered by "The Last Command," which opened yesterday at the Million Dollar Theater. It is a picture of peculiar fascination and interret. It is an accomplishment to be excolled, but with a certain restraint and with reservations.

A Jannings starring picture is, in any event, always something to talk about. The noted actor's productions, whether of this bountry or of and whether of this country or of Europe, have evaded the conventional movie formulae. "The Way of All Plesh" may in retrospect be rated as one of the past years finest schlevements. Long ago "Passion" and "Deception" proved the Jannings art as an actor.

"The Last Command" differs from the majority of the other Jannings pictures in that it has what might be termed a pat plot. The fin tells the story of an old Hollywood extraonce a general in the Russian army, related to the Caar. The events in Russia are depicted in a cutback The first and the final scenes are laid in a picture studio.

What happens in the cutback sets the stage for the final scenes are laid in glory. An enfeebled old man, nerves shattered, he is required to impersonate himself in the ternohes, overcoming the rebellious spirit of his troops, and raising aloft in a fever of, patriotism the flag of the fland which he had loved devotedly.

It is a radiant but of action. And Jannings succeeds in imbaing it with an almost supernatural frenzy, the impression of which will prove quite fundamental intensity in the flag of the fland which he had loved devotedly.

There is a vibrant spirit of energy running through the production, which is unquestionably to be attributed to the direction by Josef Von Sternberg. The mob scenes are alive with action. By contrast, some romantic episodes developing between the general and a girl revolutionist, whom he retains as hill personal "prisonse of war." have the finest elements of repression.

The character of the general, for all that it is splendidly delineated by Jannings, is weakly drawn. After a succession of pictures which varied from mediocry to downright terrible, Miss Shearer has a bright, clever vehicle in the current picture—by far her best sivice "His Secretary." One might become reckless and syy that it is almost as good. Agnes Dolar, the lady "traveling man" of the story, goes out and reats the men at their own game. When one smart young chap sits out in front of a village emporium until opening time 13 be the first with his samples, little Aggle just takes her trunks and goes up to the business man's home. She sells him her goods over the breakfast table.

It is not all business in "The Latest from Faris," as there is a pleasant little romance between Miss Dolan and a rival salesman, played by Raiph Forbes. The picture has a number of annusing incidents as well.

Best of all there are many laughable glimpres of the life led on the road by the salesmen, poker games in the smoker, and surreptitious drinks of firewater in the washroom. Then there is the incident of the rotund travelling man with the roving eye who writes a tearful letter to

936 The Pursuit of Sitting Bull (Concluded). by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

NG THE WINTER OF 1876-77, GENERAL MILES REORGANIZED HIS PORCES ON TONQUE RIVER AND ONCE MORE SET OUT TO CAPTURE SITTING BULL. THE CRAFTY SIOUX MEDICINE MAN LAID LOW AND A HEAVY SNOWFALL BLOTTED OUT THE TRAILS AHEAD OF HIS PURSUERS.

MILES' SCOUTS SCOURED THE COUNTRY, AND EARLY IN JANUARY DISCOVERED THE HIDDEN ENCAMPMENT OF SITTING BULL'S BAND. THE VILLAGE WAS ATTACKED, AND THE SIOUX DRIVEN ACROSS THE MISSOURI RIVER.

THE TIRELESS MILES FOLLOWED AND, LOCATING THE HIDING-PLACE OF THE HOSTILES, AGAIN ATTACKED THE FUGITIVES. THIS TIME THE INDIANS LOST MOST OF THEIR CAMP EQUIP-MENT AND SITTING BULL FLED FAR TO THE NORTH THROUGH THE DEEP SNOWS.

GENERAL MILES WOULD BE AT HIS HEELS AGAIN CENERAL MILES WOULD BE AT HIS HEELS AQ AND SO HE MADE SURE OF HIS SAFETY BY SULPPING ACROSS THE BORDER INTO BRITISH COLUMBIA, WHERE UNITED STATES TROOPS COULD NOT TOUCH HIM.

Fight Opens on Pasadena Golf Project

Whether or not the city administration of Pasadena will be permitted to proceed with the construction of a $125,000 municipal golf links is under aubmission before Judge Gates of the Superior Court.

Injunction proceedings to halt the work have been instituted by a group of taxpayers represented by Attorney A. B. Ritchey. The city administration is defended by City Attorney McAllister.

On argument of an application for a temporary injunction before Judge Gates, the protestants admitted that by Witnesses
